WILLS VALLEY
FAMILY MEDICINE

Reducing fear through more individual time
and listening.

Dr. Frances Koe, MD, MPH, is a licensed family physician. Inspired by a lifelong passion for nutrition and an interest in everything self-sufficient and regenerative, she set out to educate Alabamians about health, emphasize the importance of the connection between mind and body, and provide information about the interconnected topics of food, farming and medicine.

Take control of your healthcare journey.

First Tuesday of each month
9:30-11:30am
Collinsville Public Library

"Every topic we discuss contributes significantly to the construction of a high-quality life. Make a personal investment, commit to attending, and join us for the entire year!"

Interested in attending? RSVP ahead of time through the Clinic Front Desk, at (256) 524-3090, or Online at willsvallfamilymedicine.com

At Wills Valley Family Medicine, Dr. Koe and her professional care providers feel strongly that time is important. 30-minute appointments allow more time for Dr. Koe and her nurse practitioners to really listen to the concerns of each patient. They work together, cooperatively, to design solutions to health issues with which both patient and physician are comfortable.

Because your time and health are valuable, Dr. Koe and her staff work hard to see new patients within one to two business days. Established patients are often able to be seen the same day.

One of Dr. Koe's priorities is keeping you out of the ER and Urgent Care if at all possible. Quick appointments, a compassionate staff, and patient education - available both online and in the clinic - work together to facilitate this.

As a Family Medicine Clinic, Dr. Koe sees everyone from birth to death. She is confident and practiced in caring for all health concerns from newborns to end-of-life related issues.

Dr. Koe does referrals to any specialist and provides a wide range of health services including pap smears, minor surgical procedures, and suggests herbs for some small health issues.

She and her skilled staff strive to provide the best care possible, and Dr. Koe endeavors to give the most natural and least invasive treatment available for every issue and health concern.

As a family medicine practitioner, Dr. Koe does NOT offer pain management. She also does not call-in prescriptions or controlled substances after hours or on the weekends. She does not prescribe narcotics or any controlled substance without seeing the patient first; this includes pain, anxiety and sleep medications.

Dr. Koe's clinic redefines healthcare with a dedicated team that goes the extra mile. With extended appointment times, we prioritize listening to your unique needs and concerns and collaborate proactively to deliver tailored solutions. This not only alleviates fears surrounding medical issues but also transforms your visits into a genuinely reassuring and stress-free experience. We are committed to making your healthcare journey exceptional.
